

Naughty and Nice: Clear Security Holidays

The holidays are a time for joy, family, and giving. But they can also be a time for increased security risks. With all the hustle and bustle, it's easy to let your guard down. But by taking a few simple precautions, you can help keep your holidays safe and secure.

Be aware of your surroundings

One of the best ways to avoid becoming a victim of crime is to be aware of your surroundings. Pay attention to the people and things around you, and trust your instincts. If something doesn't feel right, it probably isn't.

Don't carry large amounts of cash

Carrying large amounts of cash is a tempting target for thieves. Instead, use a credit card or debit card whenever possible. And if you do have to carry cash, keep it in a secure place, such as a money belt or inside pocket.

Be careful about who you share your information with

Identity theft is a growing problem, and the holidays are a prime time for thieves to strike. Be careful about who you share your personal information with, such as your Social Security number, credit card number, or bank account number.

Lock your doors and windows

When you're not home, make sure to lock all of your doors and windows. This will help deter burglars from targeting your home.

Install a security system

A security system can be a great way to protect your home from burglars. There are a variety of different security systems available, so choose one that meets your needs and budget.

Be careful about what you post on social media

Social media can be a great way to stay connected with friends and family, but it's important to be careful about what you post. Avoid posting information that could make you a target for criminals, such as your vacation plans or your home address.

Trust your instincts

If something doesn't feel right, it probably isn't. Trust your instincts and take steps to protect yourself.

By following these tips, you can help keep your holidays safe and secure. So enjoy the holidays, and be sure to take some time to relax and enjoy the time with your loved ones.
