Excerpt from The Useless War: My Diary

July 1, 1916

We have been in the trenches for two weeks now, and the fighting has been relentless. The Germans are constantly shelling us, and we are living in a state of constant fear. The trenches are filthy and overcrowded, and the stench of death is everywhere.

I have seen so many young men die in the past few days. They are just boys, really, and they have no idea what they are fighting for. They are being used as pawns in a meaningless game, and their lives are being wasted.

I am so tired of war. I want to go home. I want to see my family and friends again. I want to live a normal life.

But I know that I cannot leave. I have to stay here and fight. I have to do my part to defend my country.

But I cannot help but wonder, is it worth it? Is all this death and destruction really necessary? Is there any point to this useless war?
